

INDIAN SCHOOL AL WADI AL KABIR
DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH [2023– 2024]

TOPIC: CONJUNCTIONS

WORKSHEET

RESOURCE PERSON: Ms. Ammulu K.R.K

NAME: _____ CLASS: IV SEC: ____ DATE: _____

I. Complete the story by using appropriate Conjunctions given in the box. The Conjunctions can be used more than once.

though and for although yet until but

Once a young girl named Lily wanted to explore the forest next to her village. As she entered the forest, the path was winding _____ narrow, and she had to be cautious, _____ the ground was uneven.

Lily walked deeper into the forest, the sunlight filtering through the leaves. _____ she was a bit nervous, her curiosity drove her forward. She could hear the chirping of birds and the rustling of leaves, _____ she remained fearless. _____ the forest was beautiful, Lily knew she couldn't stay there forever. She continued her journey, following the path _____ she reached a magnificent waterfall. She couldn't help _____ smile at the breathtaking sight. As the day wore on, Lily explored the forest further and marvelled at the wonders of nature _____ she realized the sun was beginning to set. By retracing the steps Lily returned to her village. _____ it was a bit scary at times, Lily had proven to herself that she could conquer her fears _____ explore the unknown.

INDIAN SCHOOL AL WADI AL KABIR
DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH [2023– 2024]

TOPIC: CONJUNCTIONS

WORKSHEET

RESOURCE PERSON: Ms. Ammulu K.R.K

NAME: _____ CLASS: IV SEC: ____ DATE: _____

I. Complete the story by using appropriate Conjunctions given in the box. The Conjunctions can be used more than once.

though and for although yet until but

Once a young girl named Lily wanted to explore the forest next to her village. As she entered the forest, the path was winding _____ narrow, and she had to be cautious, _____ the ground was uneven.

Lily walked deeper into the forest, the sunlight filtering through the leaves. _____ she was a bit nervous, her curiosity drove her forward. She could hear the chirping of birds and the rustling of leaves, _____ she remained fearless. _____ the forest was beautiful, Lily knew she couldn't stay there forever. She continued her journey, following the path _____ she reached a magnificent waterfall. She couldn't help _____ smile at the breathtaking sight. As the day wore on, Lily explored the forest further and marvelled at the wonders of nature _____ she realized the sun was beginning to set. By retracing the steps Lily returned to her village. _____ it was a bit scary at times, Lily had proven to herself that she could conquer her fears _____ explore the unknown.