It was a Sunday and Ann was at home. She wanted to have fun with her family. She had many ideas, but finally decided on baking a few chocolate chip cookies. She took one big bowl of flour and added four tablespoons of sugar, one cup of butter, a pinch of baking powder, and some walnuts. She mixed the dough for ten minutes. She then shaped the dough into several balls and arranged them in a cookie tray and placed it in the oven for thirty-five minutes. She peeped into the oven to see how the cookies looked. Finally when the cookies were done, she invited all her family members to relish the tasty cookies.
