Q.16	Sustainability is the development that satisfies the needs of the present without compromising the capacity of future generations, guaranteeing the balance between economic growth, care for the environment and social well-being. Sustainable development is a concept that appeared for the first time in 1987 with the publication of the Brundtland Report, warning of the negative environmental consequences of economic growth and globalization. Sustainable development includes the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • reducing excessive use of resources and enhancing resource conservation. • recycling and reuse of waste materials. • scientific management of renewable resources, especially bio-resources. • planting more trees. • green grassy patches to be interspersed between concrete buildings. • using more environment friendly material or biodegradable material. • use of technologies, which are environmentally friendly and based on efficient use of resources.
Q.17	The characteristics of entrepreneurships are <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Ability to take up risks 2. Believe in hard work and discipline

	3. Adaptable and flexible to achieve the goals of enhancing quality and customer satisfaction 4. Knowledge of the product and services and their need or demand in the market 5. Financial literacy and money management skills. 6. Effective planning and execution.
Q.18	A ‘green job’ is employment in any industry that contributes to preserving or restoring environmental quality in that sector and allowing for sustainable development. It includes jobs that help protect ecosystems and biodiversity and reduce energy, materials and water consumption through high efficiency strategies. Green jobs can be in any sector, such as agriculture, manufacturing, research and development activities, etc. They can bring about the much-needed transition from high carbon to low carbon economy by promoting environment friendly technologies. A rise in green buildings and energy efficiency is increasing the demand for architects, engineers, technicians, plumbers, construction workers, etc.
Q.19	Economic Development— Money in Circulation As entrepreneurs create value by making available better and cheaper products and services for customers, the economy grows. As entrepreneurs grow their business, investors put money into their businesses and expect good returns. Creation of Jobs: A business started by an entrepreneur is usually a very small business in the beginning. If it becomes successful and grows, the entrepreneur expands the business. As the business grows, it needs more work to be done and so creates more jobs. Good quality jobs lead to more people earning money and having a good life. Entrepreneurs create business opportunities, the economy grows. Improved Standard of Living— More things available to live a comfortable life: When entrepreneurs sell products like a tractor, a mobile phone or a mobile service, it helps people live a more comfortable life. For example, a small village did not have good quality soap because of which the villagers used to fall sick. An entrepreneur started going to the city collected antibacterial soap from the city and sold it to the villages the people started using the soap for handwashing, is a result of which these uses less incidences of people falling sick. Optimal Use of Resources: There are various natural resources present around us renewable and non-renewable. Entrepreneurs keep working to find the most optimal ways of using the resources to reduce costs and increase their profits.
Q.20	Patience: Entrepreneurship is not a one-day job. Success may not be achieved quickly and therefore, it is important for an entrepreneur to be patient in running the business. Positivity: When a person starts a business, he/she may face lots of difficulties and failure. An entrepreneur has to think positively even when he/she takes a big risk.

There may be losses at times but even then an entrepreneur should stay positive and continue to work hard towards their goal.

Never Giving Up and Perseverance: Every new business goes through failures and therefore, an entrepreneur needs to work hard till it becomes successful. It is necessary for an entrepreneur to continuously work hard towards his/her own and company's goals.

Confidence :An entrepreneur needs to be very confident and take decisions about their business. An entrepreneur needs to communicate confidently with the customers.
