

Punctuate the following paragraph.

the lost key

yesterday, emily lost her house key she searched everywhere but couldn't find it desperately, she checked under the couch in her bag and even in the pockets of her jacket no luck feeling upset, she followed back her steps, hoping to find a clue suddenly, she remembered visiting the park earlier in the day with a tiny bit of hope, she rushed back to the park and, to her relief, found the key lying on a bench gratefully, she picked it up and hurried home, thankful for the happy ending to her adventure