. What was	as Subsistence Crisis? Why did it happen in France during	the Old Regime?

	<ul> <li>The production of food grains could not keep pace with the demand and the price of bread which was the staple diet of the majority rose rapidly.</li> </ul>
	• The wages also did not keep pace with the rise in prices. The gap between the rich and the poor widened. This led to the subsistence crisis.
4.	"Philosophers played an important role in enlightening the French people during revolution".
	Justify.
	Ans:
	• The ideas envisaging a society based on freedom and equal laws and opportunities for all were put forward by the philosophers.
	<ul> <li>In his Two Treatises of Government, John Locke criticized the doctrine of the divine and absolute right of the monarch.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Jean Jacques Rousseau proposed a form of government based on a Social Contract</li> </ul> between people and their representatives.
	<ul> <li>In The Spirit of Laws, Montesquieu proposed a division of power within the government</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>between the legislative, the executive and the judiciary.</li> <li>The ideas of these philosophers were discussed intensively in salons and coffee-houses</li> </ul> and among people through newspapers and books.
5.	"France became constitutional monarchy". Explain.
	OR Explain the features of the Constitution of France drafted in 1791.
	Ans:
	• The National Assembly completed the draft of the constitution in 1791. Its main object was to limit the powers of the monarch.
	<ul> <li>Instead of being concentrated in the hands of one person, powers were now separated and assigned to different institutions - the legislature, executive and judiciary. This made</li> </ul>
	France a Constitutional Monarchy.
	<ul> <li>The Constitution of 1791 vested the power to make laws to the National Assembly, which was indirectly elected.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Not all citizens had the right to vote. Only men of 25 years of age who paid taxes equal to at least three days of a laborer's wage. They were called active citizens.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>The remaining men and all women were called passive citizens.</li> </ul> arrested, imprisoned and then tried by a revolutionary tribunal.

	<ul> <li>If the court found them guilty, they were guillotined.</li> </ul>
7.	Explain the reforms of Maximillian Robespierre.
	OR
	Explain the reforms introduce by the Jacobin Government.
	Ans.
	<ul> <li>Robespierre's government issued laws placing a maximum ceiling on wages and prices.</li> <li>Meat and bread were rationed.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Peasants were forced to transport their grain to the cities and sell it at prices fixed by the government.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>The use of more expensive white flour was forbidden. All citizens were required to eat</li> </ul> plain bread (equality bread), a loaf made of whole wheat.
l	• Equality was also sought to be practiced through forms of speech and address.
l	Instead of the traditional Monsieur (Sir) and the Madame (Madam) all French men and women were henceforth Citoyen and Citoyenne (citizen).
	Churches were shut down and their buildings converted into barracks or offices.
8.	What do you mean by Directory? Why was it removed from France?
	Ans:
	The directory was a five-member committee which governed France when the political power was passed into the hands of the wealthier middle class.
	• It was meant as a safeguard against the concentration of power in the hands of one man executive as under the Jacobins.
	The Directors often clashed with the legislative councils who in turn sought to dismiss them. This led to political instability of Directory in France. It paved the way for the rise of a military dictator called Napoleon Bonaparte.
9.	Describe the condition of women in France before the Revolution.
	Ans:
	• Most women of the third estates worked as seamstresses and laundresses, sold flowers, fruits & vegetables or worked as domestic helps in the houses of the rich people.
	<ul> <li>Most women did not have the access to education or job training.</li> </ul>
	Only daughters of rich or middle class could study at s convent, after which their families arranged marriage for them.
	<ul> <li>Working women had to take care of their families that were cooking, fetch water, and</li> </ul> queue up for bread and look after their children.
	Their wages were lower than those of men.
10.	State the laws revolutionary government had introduce to improve the lives of women in France.
	Ans: The government took the following stops to improve their conditions:

	<ul> <li>Schooling was made compulsory for all girls.</li> <li>They could not be forced to marry against their will.</li> <li>Marriage was made into a contract entered freely and registered under Civil Law.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Divorce was made legal, and could be applied for both by women and men.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Women were allowed to have training for jobs.</li> </ul> women were allowed to have training for jobs.
11.	How would you explain the rise of Napoleon as an Emperor in France?
	Ans:
	<ul> <li>In 1804, Napoleon Bonaparte crowned himself Emperor of France. He set out to conquer neighboring European countries, dispossessing dynasties and creating kingdoms.</li> </ul>
	Napoleon saw his role as a modernizer of Europe.
	<ul> <li>He introduced many laws such as the protection of private property and a uniform system of weights and measures provided by the decimal system.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Initially, many saw Napoleon as a liberator who would bring freedom for the people. But soon the Napoleonic armies came to be viewed everywhere as an invading force. He was finally defeated at Waterloo in 1815.</li> </ul>
12.	Which groups of French society benefited from the revolution? Which groups were forced to relinquish power? Which sections of society would have been disappointed with the outcome of the revolution?
	Ans
	• The wealthy class of the third estate which came to be known as the new middle class of France benefited the most from the revolution. This group comprised of big businessmen, lawyers, teachers.
	• With the abolition of feudal system, the clergy and the nobility were forced to give up their privileges. Their executive powers were also taken away from them.
	• The poorer sections of the society, i.e. small peasants, landless laborer, servants, daily wage earners would have been disappointed with the outcome of the revolution. Women also would have been highly discontented.
13.	Describe the legacy of the French Revolution for the peoples of the world during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.
	Ans:
	• The ideas of liberty and democratic rights were the most important legacy of the French Revolution. These ideas became an umpiring force for the political movements in the world in the 19th and 20th centuries.
	<ul> <li>The ideas of liberty, equality and fraternity spread from France to the rest of Europe, where foundal system was finally abalished.</li> </ul> where feudal system was finally abolished.
	<ul> <li>Colonised people reworked on the idea of freedom from bondage into their movements to Create a sovereign nation-state.</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>The idea of Nationalism that emerged after the French Revolution started becoming mass</li> </ul>
